

4.1 Understanding the organization and its context

- Understanding your business, especially in the context of information security is essential
- Develop your understanding through common methodologies such as SWOT analysis
- Aid your analysis of risks and issues that might impact your Information Security Management System, be it internal or external factors
- These factors must be taken into consideration and will facilitate the establishment of your Information Security objectives

